Are you
INTOGREEN?

We connect knowledge, inspiration, and people to the idea that green homes and working places make people both happier and healthier.

- Because it's important for consumers to know that plants make their homes healthier.
- Our schools becoming truly fruitful learning places is long overdue.
- We need to change the fact that most HRM professionals don't even know that sick leave is reduced by 5% if there are plants in the office.
- There is plenty of proof that our health care is in desperate need of truly healthy environments.

Science has provided us with an increasing amount of proof that plants bring health to our environment. You probably already knew this, but until now this knowledge had not travelled beyond the professionals in the industry. We, all together, can reach new groups. That's what Into Green is all about.

Join us on Facebook or Twitter. Share your network, content and ideas and we will connect you to new networks and share inspiring green ideas and convincing green knowledge with new target groups.

Let's all get INTOGREEN!
